

Internship opening at the Cikananga Wildlife Rescue Center, Java, Indonesia

Mammalian, Avian & Reptilian Diet Review

The Cikananga Wildlife Rescue Center takes care of on average 300 wild animals that are confiscated, rescued or evacuated from the wildlife trade or conflict situations. With 50 species of animals of different taxa and a continuous developing knowledge on nutrition and diet requirements we have internship openings focused on meeting the dietary requirements for all animals.

At the moment we are looking for interns to review the diets of all species held at CWC. In undertaking a review of each species diet, interns will review the current diets offered to animals at CWC, review current nutritional research and data, and suggest alterations to the species diet taking into account local availability of food items. Important is that where to include in this review the way food is presented to animals, and cost-effective alterations to improve both animal welfare and cost effectiveness. After the approval by caretakers, animal welfare manager and financial manager, trials can be undertaken. All activities will all be done with supervision of Cikananga staff who are Bahasa Indonesia and / or English and / or Dutch speaking.

Are you...

- Motivated, independent and precise
- Willing to learn more about the importance and impact of appropriate diets
- Able to report and present the results at the end of your internship to the team at Cikananga
- Set for an insightful and memorable experience in Indonesia

We are open to either Vocational, Bachelor or Master students for nutritionists, animal care, ecology of similar studies with a genuine feeling for animal welfare. We have extensive experience with tutoring students. The rescue center completely depends on donations, therefore we are not able to reimburse travel or accommodation costs. Accommodation at the center is about 6 million Indonesian rupiah per month, this covers the stay in a dorm, two meals a day (lunch and dinner) and a laundry service.
