1. Introduction

The Cikananga Wildlife Center volunteer and internship program is open for everyone: Local and international students and other individuals interested to experience and study Indonesian wildlife. The programs bring valuable support to the Center and provide the participants with an opportunity to experience the rescue and conservation of Indonesian wildlife. Participation is possible all year round based on acceptance. Due to limited capacity we sometimes have to reject applications.

In this guide we give you some backgrounds on the volunteer program at the Cikananga Wildlife Center. There is information about daily practicalities, pricing, preparation, your arrival and contact information. If you have questions after reading, please contact us.

1.1 Cikananga Wildlife Center

Cikananga Wildlife Rescue Center (CWRC) or Pusat Penyelamatan Satwa Cikananga (PPSC) is a non-governmental and non-profit organisation for the conservation of Indonesian wildlife. It includes, among other projects:

- Wildlife Rescue Center (CWRC/PPSC)
- Conservation Breeding Center (CCBC)
- Sustainability Program
- Wildlife Learning Center

Cikananga Wildlife Center was established in 2001. Since then it has been dedicating its efforts to the welfare and conservation of Indonesian wildlife and habitats. It provides facilities and man-power to rehabilitate confiscated wild animals and, where possible, reintroduce them back to their natural habitat. The center also provides a permanent sanctuary for animals that cannot be released back to the wild. There are about 500 animals ranging from crocodiles to hornbills and leopards to primates such as orang-utans and gibbons. Mostly the animals have come from the miserable illegal wildlife trade or have lost their habitat due to deforestation. Most animals are endangered with extinction and often arrive at CWRC in a heavily neglected state in desperate need of medical care.

CWRC aims to assist the government in rescuing and conserving Indonesian wildlife and teaching the public about the correct care of animals. In these activities CWRC accommodates, rehabilitates and takes care of confiscated animals, preparing them for a life beyond the illegal wildlife trade.

CCBC has the goal of breeding Critically Endangered Indonesian endemic species on the brink of extinction. The ultimate aim is to release individuals back into available safe habitats in their geographic range, this unfortunately is as a long-term goal with the rate of habitat destruction in Indonesia and growing the captive population and creating satellite populations is recognised by CCBC to be just as important.

Beginning in 2020, Cikananga Wildlife Centre started a sustainability program with a focus on food production. Currently, the centres farm includes two growing areas, totalling roughly 2 hectares/5 acres. Cikananga’s farm is a diversified organic farm, including coffee and fruit production. The vegetable operation, coming into its second year of production, supplies high-quality organic vegetables and fruits to the animals of YCKT. It is being developed on land previously used for rice production with a greenhouse and compost building. We practice minimal-soil disturbance methods, focussing on soil health and composting.

1.2 Core Partners

The partners recognized here currently contribute large financial assistance to Cikananga Foundation and/or work very closely with the foundation on numerous programs. A complete list of sponsors can be found at <https://www.cikanangawildlifecenter.com/sponsors/>.

Badan Konservasi Sumber Daya Alam (BKSDA) is the Indonesian Government Forestry Department and has sponsored Cikananga Wildlife Rescue Center since 2001. CWRC works closely with BKSDA assisting with confiscations, releases and conflict situations.

Chester Zoo has supported Cikananga Conservation Breeding Center and Cikananga Wildlife Rescue Center financially and with technical assistance since 2011.

Mandai Nature has supported Cikananga Wildlife Center and Cikananga Conservation Breeding Center financially and with technical support since 2014 until present.

Wanicare Foundation

2. Your time at the Cikananga Wildlife Rescue Center

At CWRC you can make a significant difference in helping endangered wildlife by assisting with husbandry and/or undertaking research, all whilst having a unique experience.

2.1 What kind of work activities do I do?

Together with our Indonesian staff, you will work in CWRC for six days a week from 07.00 to 16.00, inclusive of a lunch break (11.30-13.00). The main tasks that you undertake are:

- Daily care of the animals e.g. food preparation and enclosure cleaning
- Preparing and supplying enrichment
- Animal behaviour observations
- Teamwork, this is where all the staff and participants of the programs twice a week will work on larger group projects within the center.
- Besides the regular activities, sometimes other opportunities are available, such as:
 - Assisting with confiscations
 - Monitoring medical procedures
 - Assisting at the clinic

Please note

- On arrival at CWRC we will ask you to read our handbook and watch an informational video which includes the rules that are in place during your time at CWRC. After this we will ask you to sign our volunteer contract which confirms you understand the rules. Please note that we reserve the right to ask you to leave CWRC if we feel it is appropriate.

- You are not allowed to enter any enclosures without the supervision of our staff.
- We have a strict no-physical contact policy with the animals in our care.

2.2 Are there possibilities for an internship at CWRC?

Yes! For intermediate vocational education and bachelor level education we offer tutoring for wildlife/nature/conservation and similar studies. We are an Aequor licensed learning institute and many students have been attending this program as part of their internship over the years. We also have experience with Masters Projects and welcome students from all levels of study. Our staff can support with all aspects of projects undertaken at CWRC, ranging from research development to analysis. We will ask you also to spend time assisting with activities within the centre when you are not working on your project.

If you are interested, please contact us and we can discuss your project prior to your arrival or you are also welcome to come to us with your own research idea.

- We will send you an invoice with the total amount for the length of your stay and payment for your stay at CWRC will have to be done in advance by bank transfer.

2.4 What are the costs?

We aim to keep fees low in order to make the program as accessible as possible for everyone. Fees are based on the underlying costs plus a small increment that directly flows to the expenses of the center e.g. medicine, food and construction of enclosures.

2.5 What do I need to arrange for health, insurance and traveling advice?

We advise you to seek professional medical advice on vaccinations and medicine before traveling to CWRC. We strongly advise you to follow international vaccination advice for Indonesia and consider all vaccinations e.g. Japanese Encephalitis.

- Be fully vaccinated for CoVID-19 (following Indonesian national requirements).
- Be vaccinated for Hepatitis A, B; Tetanus; Rabies and Typhus (make a timely appointment, some vaccinations need a booster).

- We ask you to send us a copy of your vaccination card and the result of the TBC test before your arrival.
- Please bring your own medicine. In Indonesia medication is not always widely available as you might be used to at home e.g. Paracetamol and Ibuprofen.
- Malaria is NOT present in the area around CWRC, Dengue fever however is present everywhere in Indonesia.
- For Dutch Volunteers/Interns please check Vaccinatiecentrum.nl as they are completely informed and cheaper than for example the GGD.
